

SECTION 179.ORG

QUALIFIED FINANCING

The Section 179 Deduction has been great to businesses for years. But did you know that when it is combined with equipment financing, it can literally put thousands of dollars in your pocket?

It's smart to take a look at using the Section 179 Deduction for 2015. That's because Section 179 offers an incredible opportunity to acquire needed equipment, and increase your cash reserves at the same time. And 2015 is the perfect time to take advantage of it. If you want 2015's bottom line to look better, then act now.

This is especially true if you choose to finance the equipment you buy. How good of a deal can Financing Equipment and using Section 179 be? Take a look at the below chart:

- The above assumes $50,000 worth of equipment financed in October 2015, with a monthly payment of $1,120.
- The annual return/equipment gain is 3% ($125 per month). This makes the true net payment $995 per month.
- The Section 179 Deduction (50k, which results in $17,500 net tax savings) is taken in Dec 2015. That amount, less the net payment of $995 each month, will provide a positive cumulative cash flow until Feb 2017.
- This means you will not truly begin paying for your equipment (in terms of net bottom-line dollars) until Feb 2017. Of course, you've used (and profited from) the equipment during that time, and also paid a full 17 months on the loan term. This is why Section 179 Financing is such a great deal.

QUALIFIED FINANCING

This is it - this is “our” government bailout. Section 179 is the only government help that small and medium sized businesses are going to get, both now, and likely for the future. But as you can see, it’s especially effective, particularly when combined with financed equipment. It will add to your bottom line, and ensures that you don’t truly start paying for your needed equipment until well into the future.

Equipment Financing and Section 179 Frequently Ask Questions

Equipment financing / Section 179 combo is advantageous... but what equipment qualifies?

- ✓ Equipment (machines, etc) purchased for business use
- ✓ Tangible personal property used in business
- ✓ Business Vehicles with a gross vehicle weight in excess of 6,000 lbs
- ✓ Computers
- ✓ Office Furniture
- ✓ Office Equipment
- ✓ Property attached to your building that is not a structural component of the building (i.e.: a printing press, large manufacturing tools and equipment)
- ✓ Partial Business Use (equipment that is purchased for business use and personal use - generally , your deduction will be based on the percentage of time you use the equipment for your business purposes.)

What about used equipment?

Most used equipment qualifies for Section 179 if it is new to you.

But can I finance used equipment?

It depends on your equipment financing partner. Happily, in most cases, Crest Capital does finance used equipment.

Do I have to do this now (in 2015) to take advantage of Section 179?

A HUGE yes, if you want to affect your bottom line for 2015. That’s because the limits were temporarily raised to $25,000 thru Dec 31, 2015. So with the new, higher limits, Section 179 becomes a really big deal for this calendar year.

Visit www.crestcapital.com today, and get great “low-rate / fast approval” financing tomorrow (literally). Use your new equipment right now, and profit well into the future as well. It’s really that simple.

In honor of Section 179, Crest Capital is offering a “$179 bonus per $10,000 financed”. This means you can get your equipment now (and thus get to take advantage of Section 179 in 2015), and get bonus cash as well. Click here for details.
